WHAT IS FOREX TRADING?

The Forex exchange market works through financial institutions, and it operates on several levels. Behind the scenes, banks turn to a smaller number of financial firms known as “dealers” who are actively involved in large quantities of foreign exchange trading. Most quantities of foreign exchange dealers are banks, so this behind-the-scenes market is sometimes called the “interbank market”, although a few insurance companies and other kinds of financial firms are involved. Trades between foreign exchange dealers can be very large, involving two currencies, forex has little (if any) supervisory entity regulating its actions.
